
PHILOSOPHY

I love beer. I have always loved beer.

I love that nowadays beer's resurgence in popularity offers us different brewing techniques, hop profiles and mouth feels. It offers us choice; beers to quench that "hard earned thirst", beers to savour and discuss, and beers to totally destroy your palate.

I love wine, all wine. I am no varitalist, but I certainly prefer some wines over others.

I love that wine is such a subjective obsession. It is fun to share a glass with friends, and discuss the drink. I have spent the best part of my life "tasting and researching" just so that I can share my experience with you, my guest. Each wine has been rigorously "tested" to ensure that the example on the list is the best expression of that style, from that region for the money.

I love cocktails.

I love that cocktails are strong or virgin, classic or modern, aperitif, savoury, sour or sweet. A classic cocktail brings me to a place long forgotten, an art-deco world of opulent Gatsby like chic. A modern cocktail can cleanse the palate, enhance a meal or finish an evening in style. Served as a long drink, in a fancy stemmed glass, a flute or even a tiki mug with an embossed head on it the variations of cocktails are boundless.

Harry Johnson (first published 1882) said it well "The greatest accomplishment of a bartender lies in his ability to exactly suit his customer..."

I trust you will find something within the following pages to satisfy your every desire, enhance your dining experience or simply just to drink.

Kind Regards,

Finn Vedelsby

PIMMS No. 1 CUP	Gin based savoury spice and citrus tonic	$9.9
LILLET BLANC		$10

The Bordeaux wines of Sauvignon Blanc, Semillon and Muscadelle & macerated liqueurs, mostly citrus liqueurs from the peels of sweet oranges from Spain and Morocco and the peels of bitter green oranges from Haiti. Cinchona bark from Peru which contains quinine. Lillet is matured in oak casks.

MARTINI EXTRA DRY VERMOUTH		$8
MARTINI ROSSO SWEET VERMOUTH		$8
SAINT GERMAIN ELDERFLOWER LIQUOR		$10

An exquisite concoction made from handpicked elderflowers blossoms from France. A seductive bouquet introduces a soft, floral sherbet lemon, pear and passionfruit style liqueur that's integrated, harmonious and beautifully balanced. A near perfect very special liqueur.

VODKA

The simplest and most pure of all spirits, Vodka expresses wheat, rye, grape or potato characters and those of the water with which it is blended, without the influence of anything outside of its own nature. The Rocks' favorite Vodkas are an expression of ancient distillation techniques and the most pure water on Earth. Vodka served directly from the Polish snow is an age old tradition and so, from the freezer, try the Vodka, to enjoy the nuances and individualities of our very best Vodkas in flight.

GIN

In essence, Gin begins its life as a pure spirit very much like Vodka. However the final distillation process introduces intriguing notes of up to twenty different botanicals; juniper, lemon peel, cassia bark, angelica and orris are just some of the ingredients with which we create Gin. From its sordid days in London's Gin Palaces and reputation of a mother's ruin, to its most sophisticated expression as a Martini, Gin is the perfect spirit from the gutter to the stars, on whichever end you find yourself. Raise your glasses to the great man W.C. Fields who never drank anything stronger than Gin before breakfast.

The Martini is synonymous with sophistication, refinement, a plucking bass string and a wailin' saxophone in a smoky bar at midnight. Of course there is James Bond, with his Vesper Lynd Martini, invented and named by the fictional secret agent in the 1953 novel Casino Royale.

'Three measures of Beefeater, one of vodka, half a measure of Kina Lillet. Shake it very well until it's ice-cold then add a large thin slice of lemon-peel. Got it?'

"Certainly, monsieur." The barman seemed pleased with the idea. The novel goes on with Bond telling the barman, after taking a long sip, "Excellent ... but if you can get vodka made with grain instead of potatoes, you will find it still better". And so began the most famous of all the classic finishes of the Martini.

RUM

Rum is really, really cool. Think Bahamas, Jamaica man, think the British royal navy with their daily ration of liquid gold and lime, think Captain Jack Sparrow's secret island cache of the world's most diverse and expressive spirits. Why else are Jamaicans and Cubans so cool? Their homes are the original birthplaces of rum.

From Blanco to dark with Anejo and gold - choose your favorite color and there is a rum to match it. Rum is the new vodka; for those out in front of the pack, or even jaded vodka drinkers, please be the first and join in this exciting cosmopolitan lifestyle that is heralding in next year's drink of choice.

TEQUILA

Tequila has come a long way since your early memories of 21st birthday celebrations, with the worst hangover and illness anyone has ever had, waking up next to all sorts of things and always including that little bloody red plastic sombrero.

Early Tequilas were nothing more than rough fire water designed for maximum effect in minimal time. Tequila today is distilled more professionally and more hygienically, and aged for longer periods resulting in a smooth refined spirit with much style and character thus it is served with more respect; lemon and salt giving way to orange and cinnamon. We now have available in this country Tequila so fine it can be swirled and sniffed like the finest French Brandies. So, chin up, the past is in the past, order a new tequila and live in the now.

BOURBON

Bourbon is the United States of America's greatest gift to the global spirit industry. This native spirit came circa 1700's when Irish settlers far from home without whisky or grain to make it, started experimenting with corn that was being grown to support the growth of the fledgling country.

Bourbon is the single most regulated spirit on earth and must be aged for a minimum of 2 years in virgin, charred, white oak barrels, containing no less than fifty one percent corn as starch.

The Manhattan is the smooth, yet sharp, way to drink bourbon; enjoy the subtle orange and vanillin notes that a great bourbon expresses.
